

To whom it may concern:

In writing, I give my highest level of support to Ms. McKenzie Lynn Oviatt. “Kenzie” has been an example of grit, hard work and responsibility in my two years of knowing her.

Most of the above mentioned traits have been hard to find in this younger generation. I also don't like to give credit where credit is not due. IN this case, the credit is due and is accurate.

McKenzie's high level of success both academically and physically have also been shown to me. Both efforts have shown her own high level of excellence and desire to succeed and be a positive influence in her surroundings from team sports to watching kids.

I see nothing but success for her. With that being said, I hope that whoever reads this would consider the opportunity to be blessed to have Kenzie as part of his or her team in any field of life professionally.
